Schedule

The three day international research conference on Liver Cancer will be sponsored by the German Research Foundation (DFG), the European Association for Cancer Research (EACR) and the EASL, organized and initiated by collaborative Research Centre SFB/TRR77 „Liver Cancer“. It will cover all research aspects of human liver carcinogenesis, from its initiation by chronic liver disease to its progression into metastatic cancer, its functional dissection, and the identification of novel preventive, diagnostic, and therapeutic approaches. Poster sessions and workshops will provide ample opportunities for the discussion of recent research results.

You can expect an exciting program with outstanding international speakers in the inspiring atmosphere of German Cancer Research Center in the charming city of Heidelberg.
